

Teaching, Interpreting, and Changing Law Since 1979 www.ilrc.org

A U visa is a type of immigration status for victims of certain crimes who have been helpful in the investigation or prosecution of that criminal activity.

What does a U visa provide?

- $\checkmark$  Permission to remain in the United States
- $\checkmark$  Eligibility for a work permit

- $\checkmark$  Eligibility for a green card
- ✓ Ability to help family members get immigration status, too

You could be eligible if you:

- ⇒ Have been the victim of a crime, have a close family member who has been the victim of a crime, or have otherwise been harmed by or witness to a crime
- Suffered mental or physical abuse because of the crime (includes physical injuries, mental trauma, etc.)
- ⇒ Have been helpful or are likely to be helpful to law enforcement in the investigation or prosecution of that crime (for example, by making a police report)

You need a law enforcement agency (like a police department) to fill out a form certifying that you have been helpful in the criminal investigation or prosecution of a crime that occurred in the United State or violated U.S. laws. There is no requirement that the perpetrator have immigration status or that you know the perpetrator. There is no fee to apply for a U visa. If you have a criminal arrest, conviction, or immigration violation on your record, you may still qualify for a U visa.

To find a trusted legal services provider and get screened to see if you could be eligible for a U visa, visit the Immigration Advocates Network's National Immigration Legal Services Directory at https://bit.ly/ianimmhelp.

Are you a student enrolled in a California Community College or California State University? If so, you are eligible to receive FREE immigration legal services!

Find out more by clicking on your corresponding code or by scanning it with your smartphone.